PROBLEM

Resellers lose deals because their engineers do not have the bandwidth

- A solution architect covers one to two vendors
- A reseller carries five
- Deals outside those vendors are turned away
- An architect costs 90 to 130k SEK a month

SOLUTION

Describe the deal. Oyster builds and validates the configuration.

1 · You describe

"180 TB replicated across two sites, plus an ERP server"

→

2 · Oyster builds

Full bill of materials, checked against the vendor's own rules

→

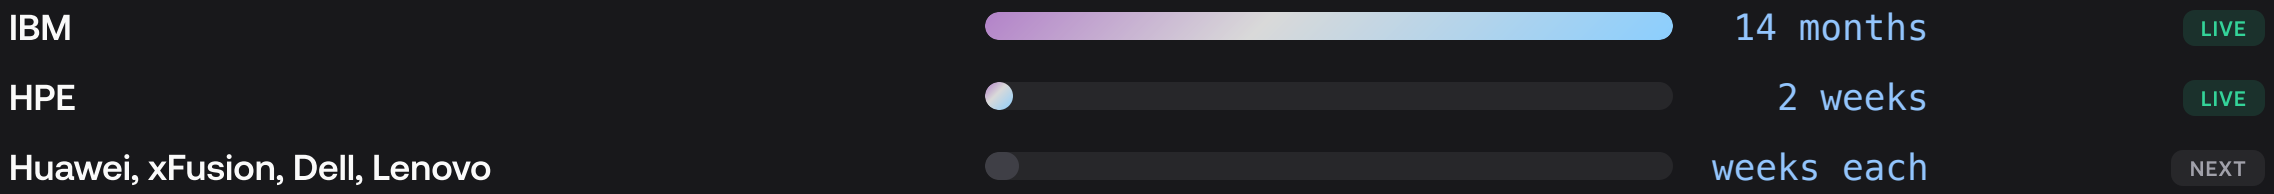

3 · You send

Vendor order file, branded quote, diagram

The output uploads into the vendor's configurator and passes. Works in the browser, or inside Claude and ChatGPT.

HOW FAR WE HAVE COME

We learned how to add a vendor on IBM. Now it takes weeks.

WHY NOW

Three things changed in 2026

CHANNEL

IBM and HPE cut to two distributors each. Resellers lose their presales desk.

TECHNOLOGY

Capturing a vendor catalog went from years to weeks.

CATEGORY

US resellers already pay 49k USD a year for a bespoke version.

BUSINESS MODEL

Capture a vendor once, sell it to every reseller carrying that line

6,500 SEK / seat / mo
5–7% of the cost of a Solution Architect

86 %
Gross margin

25 %
To the distributor that co-sells

Self-serve since October: sign up, free credits, then pay per configuration by card. Seats are for distributor-sold accounts.

COMPETITION

Nobody validates configurations across vendors, and the catalogue alone does not get you there

WHO	WHAT THEY HAVE	WHAT THEY LACK
Vendor configurators	Authoritative, single-vendor	A specialist to drive them. Never validate a competitor's line
General CPQ	Pricing and quoting for anything	Hardware rules. Will quote a drawer the chassis cannot power
Bespoke AI builds, US	One reseller, one catalogue, 49k USD a year	Multi-vendor. Every new customer is a rebuild
Distributor presales desks	Specialists working in the vendor tools by hand	Bandwidth. No tooling of their own, and being cut as vendors consolidate

Our rules come from practising solution architects, captured deal by deal. The catalogue is the raw material; the expertise is the product.
